We have just heard of a singular and musing story connected with the enlistments thine month's men in one of the nighborg towns. A stout, able-bodied man was listed by the selectmen, and he went into amp, and drilled with the company for some ax weeks, when he was rejected because he that! We saw the man in our place last back, and while we envied his muscle we wer noticed his infirmity at all. The town aw refuses to pay the man for his time pent in drilling, and he proposes very propby to take it to law. He left his family id farm to serve his country, and he claims ay for his time, which we presume he will E meeive.
